NORTON'S PATENT

Apple Slicer and Corer.

Apple Peasers are plenty enough, but the want of an instrument to slice them has been a great hindrance to their use. This Machine will do more than any other, but until now, never supplied, as it now is by

NORTON'S SLICER AND CORER.

This Machine was patented January, 1859, and is capable of Slicing and Coring from 30 to 40 bushels per day, and every basket of this fruit will furnish a good supply for the winter.

The subscriber having obtained the exclusive right to their manufacture and sale for the County of Ashtabula and Lake, will sell them at a reasonable price to any one.

The work of Ten in the common way of cutting and slicing apples, and much better for drying, as the cores are easily removed, and the fruit is more easily dried, and are all large, the largest coming off next to the core, thus bringing an extra price in market, and for which the subscriber will pay a premium a pound extra, over quartered apples.

Ashtabula, Sept. 9, 1871. S. B. WELLIS, Ashtabula.
